

Your Food Budget vs Biden and Harris

Agriculture White Paper, Prepared for Gloria Banister for House District 87

October 18, 2022

Biden and Harris at the dinner table never thought about the cost of their food. They are so ignorant as to the cost of the food that they are given at the White House and Blair House that they don't understand the impact of their policies on the family dinner table in District 87.

When Biden/Harris closed the Keystone Pipeline and ANWR, then put tariffs on fertilizer, they had no clue how these policies would impact your food budget.

Policies have positive or negative impact. Biden and Harris policies on closing Keystone and tariffs on fertilizer have consequences:

- Over-inflated fertilizer prices
- Fuel for transporting fertilizer
- Fuel and fertilizer used for planting seeds
- Fuel for harvesting grain, fruits and vegetables
- Feeding livestock high-priced grain
- Fuel for transportation to processing, milling, and distribution centers
- Fuel for Transporting processed foods products to manufacturers
- Fuel for foods delivered and stocked in grocery stores
- Fuel for consumers to transport food home to kitchen table

These policies have driven up our cost of food production from the farmers and ranchers to the family dinner table. Farmers and ranchers, who create the raw materials that all of our food comes from, costs in fertilizer has escalated 300% and the cost of fuel has created an additional financial burden to the dinner table budget.

Gloria Banister has personal experience as she and her husband have a cow/calf operation right here in central Oklahoma. She knows the families in her district are suffering under these failed policies.

Bottom Line: Due to the failed policies of Biden, Harris and all Democrats, they must own the results from these doomed actions. The way to make them understand their ineffective policies is by voting Democrats out of office at every level from state legislature, U.S. Congress offices to the White House.
